ISCAN™ Smart Power Management Systems from LifeSafety Power win SSI's Top 30 Innovation award for 2014

Security Sales & Integration's technology experts recognize LSP's smart power supplies as game changing technology

Mundelein, IL USA – December 8, 2014 – LifeSafety Power announced today it has received a Top 30 Innovation Award from Security Sales & Integration magazine for its ISCAN Remote Power Management systems.

"ISCAN enables integrators to improve efficiencies through automated services", said John Olliver, senior vice president of business development at LifeSafety Power. "Our patented remote monitoring capability allows many service functions to be checked remotely, reducing the cost of onsite service or the danger of working in restricted areas. LifeSafety Power has won multiple innovation awards and we thank Security Sales & Integration magazine for recognizing ISCAN this year."

"SSI's technical authorities objectively survey the security landscape throughout the year and pick 30 favorites from among hundreds of candidates," according to Paul Boucherle, Bob Dolph and Scott Goldfine. What is looked for is true product innovations "that introduce brand-new technology or leverage existing technology to improve security contractors' installation, service or business efficiencies; and/or enable those providers to pursue new opportunities; and/or bring enhanced features or benefits to end users."
